

DOG POLICY

The Aquinnah Public Library recognizes that some patrons with disabilities may have service animals, which are trained to assist or accommodate a person with a sensory, mental, or physical disability or to perform tasks for the benefit of a disabled individual. The Aquinnah Public Library recognizes legal rights under federal and state laws regarding use of service animals. The library also considers the safety and health of all of its patrons, the public and library staff to be of utmost priority.

STATEMENT OF POLICY

No pets or animals other than service animals (see definition below), or service animals in training, are allowed at the Aquinnah Public Library. Owners of pets may be asked by library staff to remove them from the library. Individuals with disabilities may bring their service animals into all areas of the library where members of the public are normally allowed to go. All service animals must be under the full custody and control of their handler at all times. Owners of the service animals are solely responsible for the supervision and care of the service animal. Therefore, owners must keep the service animal directly with them at all times. A service animal is defined as: "An animal that is trained for the purpose of assisting or accommodating a person's sensory, mental, or physical disability." A person with a disability cannot be asked to remove his or her service animal or service animal in training from the library unless the presence, behavior or actions of the service animal constitutes an unreasonable risk of injury or harm to property or other persons. In these cases, library staff should give the person with the disability the option to obtain library services without having the service animal or service animal in training on the premises. Fear of allergies, annoyance on the part of other patrons or employees or fear of animals are generally not valid reasons for denying access or refusing service to people with service animals or service animals in training.
